- 6% of the sample report identifying as Hispanic/Latino/Latina/Latinx
- 9% of respondents identified as Black, Indigenous, or other people of color.

The demographics of respondents:

- Gender: 53% of respondents were Women; 35% of respondents were Men; 3% of respondents were non-binary/ third gender
- Age: 46% of respondents are under 50; 51% of respondents are over 50-years-old
- Education: 3% of respondents are high school graduates or less; 19% received some college education; 37% are college graduates; 40% are post graduate degrees
- Home Ownership: 86% of respondents are home-owners; 8% are renters
- WA County Residency: 15% less than 6 years; 17% 6-10 years; 29% 11-25 years; 40% 25+

N= 320 respondents*

Key findings:

- Findings from the survey indicate three potential final maps for consideration:
 1. Plan #4: Community Boundaries: This plan tested best overall (61% support) and was the second-place finisher in the “forced choice” exercise where respondents were asked to pick their favorite of all five plans. It was also well testing amongst BIPOC residents (53% support).
 2. Plan #5: City and UPAA: This plan was the second-best testing (55% support) in direct questioning and was well testing among BIPOC residents (53% support). However, it did not score well in the forced choice exercise.
 3. Plan #3: Urban Rural Balance: This plan was very well testing among BIPOC residents (61% support) and was the top choice in the forced choice exercise. However, it was the lowest scoring in direct questioning (41% support; 52% oppose).
- Important note: please consider that there were only n=51 BIPOC respondents in this non-random sample of Washington County residents.

Background information provided to respondents

Every 10 years, Washington County must consider redrawing the boundary lines for county commissioner districts to make sure that everyone's vote has the same value. If one district becomes bigger than the others, the votes in that district are more diluted than the others. The 2020 census showed that District 2 has grown more than the other districts, so we need to make District 2 smaller and the others bigger. We would like your help so that each includes about the same number of people. At the end of this process, the population of the newly redrawn districts must not be more than 103% of any other. Under the Washington County Charter, this process must start as soon as the Oregon Legislature has finished a similar process of redrawing state legislative district lines.

Earlier this year, the Board of County Commissioners asked Portland State University's Population Research Center to provide recommended options for changing the commissioner district boundary lines.

You are now going to have the opportunity to review five different proposed options developed by Portland State University's Population Research Center and provide feedback on each option.

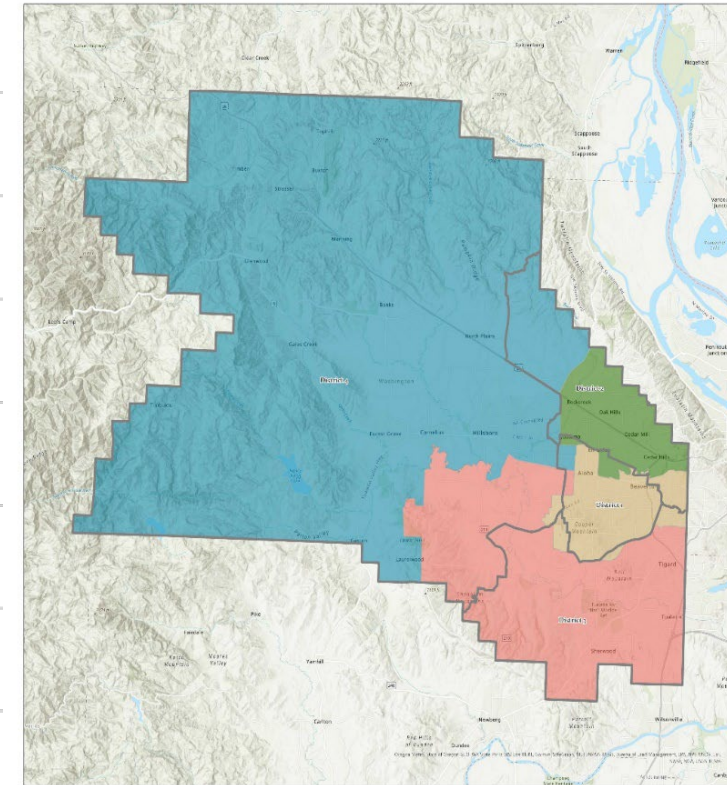

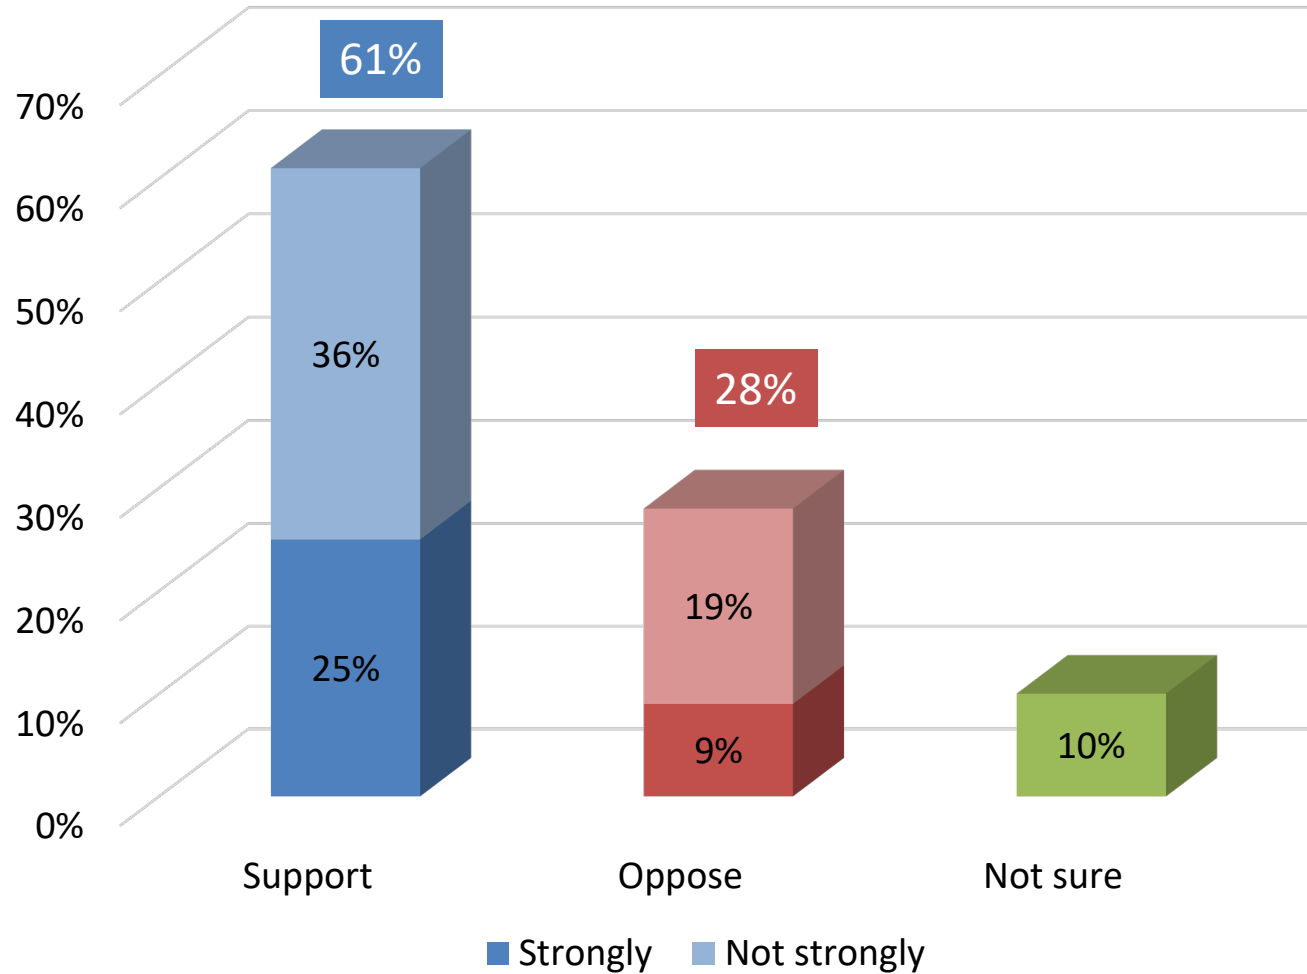

If you would like more information about these options, you can go to the county's website:

Community Boundaries Plan (#4)

Over six-in-10 support the “Community Boundaries Plan” (#4)

Proposed Commissioner District Plan 4

The “Community Boundaries Plan” (labeled as Plan 4 in the map above) attempts to combine communities of interest by following existing community boundaries such as school district and park district boundaries. What do you think about the “Community Boundaries Plan”?

Significant gender, race, and home ownership gaps are prevalent; support margins among all groups remain in the double-digits

What do you think about the "Community Boundaries Plan"? (#4)

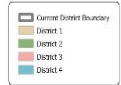

City and UPAA Plan (#5)

The “City and UPAA Plan” (#5) receives majority support

Proposed Commissioner District Plan 5

The “City and UPAA Integrity Plan” (labeled as Plan 5 in the map above) was developed to minimize the number of splits of urban areas, so that each city has preferably only one split across two commissioner districts. It also takes into account the planning area boundaries in the unincorporated areas. Urban Planning Area Agreements (UPAAs) are agreements among local jurisdictions to identify the land use planning area around each city and acknowledge responsibilities for comprehensive land use planning activities. What do you think about the “City and UPAA Integrity Plan”?

This plan holds double-digit support margins across all major subgroups

	Support	Oppose	Not sure	Support Margin
Men	65%	24%	11%	+41
Women	52%	33%	16%	+19
Under age 50	55%	29%	16%	+26

Renter	62%	27%	12%	+35
TOTAL	55%	30%	15%	+25

Significantly more men support the UPAA integrity plan than the “community boundaries plan,” while women prefer the former

Continuity Plan (#1)

While a majority support the "Continuity Plan," it evokes a higher intensity of opposition

Proposed Commissioner District Plan 1

The "Continuity Plan" (labeled as Plan 1 in the map above) makes a minimal set of changes as compared to the current boundaries in order to rebalance the population numbers among the four districts. What do you think about the "Continuity Plan"?

A significant gap in support based on race emerges; all other subgroups are similarly supportive of this option

Men	59%	37%	4%	+22
Women	54%	31%	15%	+23

What do you think about the “Continuity Plan”? (#4)

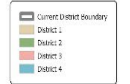

Urban Concentration Plan (#2b)

Nearly one-half of voters are opposed to the “Urban Concentration Plan” (#2b)

Proposed Commissioner District Plan 2b

The “Urban Concentration Plan” (labeled as Plan 2b in the map above) unites rural voters by creating one district (District 4) that includes most of our rural communities. The western part of the county would become one big district. The urban areas in the east would make up three districts that would be primarily urban with few rural voters. What do you think about the “Urban Concentration Plan”?

BIPOC voters and renters are strongly opposed to the Urban Concentration Plan; other groups are more divided

Men	47%	46%	7%	+1
Women	38%	50%	11%	-12

What do you think about the “Urban Concentration Plan”? (#2b)

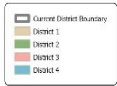

Urban/Rural Balance Plan (#3)

The “Urban/Rural Balance Plan” (#3) is the least supported of the five

Proposed Commissioner District Plan 3

The “Urban/Rural Balance Plan” (labeled as Plan 3 in the map above) attempts to have both rural and urban voters in each district. This would require some significant changes in the current boundaries. For example, District 2 which now has a western boundary in Hillsboro would extend all the way to the northwest corner of the county. District 4, to add more urban voters, would now extend all the way to Beaverton. What do you think about the “Urban/Rural Balance Plan”?

While opposition mostly sits in the double-digits, renters and BIPOC voters are net supportive of this plan

Men	40%	54%	6%	-14
Women	40%	52%	8%	-12

Redistribución del Condado de Washington

1. ¿Vive actualmente en el condado de Washington?

Sí 1

No TERMINAR [TERMINATE]

[INFORMACIÓN DE CONTEXTO; SÓLO AVISO/BACKGROUND INFORMATION NOTICE ONLY] Cada 10 años, El condado de Washington debe considerar el reajuste de las líneas de demarcación de los distritos de comisionados del condado para asegurarse de que el voto de todos tenga el mismo valor. Si un distrito se vuelve más grande comparado a los otros, los votos en ese distrito se diluyen más que los demás. El censo de 2020 mostró que el Distrito 2 ha crecido más que los otros distritos, por lo que hay que hacer el Distrito 2 más pequeño y los otros más grandes. Nos gustaría contar con su ayuda para que cada uno de los distritos incluya aproximadamente el mismo número de personas. Al final de este proceso, la población de los nuevos distritos reajustados no debe ser superior al 103% comparado a los otros. Según la Carta del Condado de Washington, este proceso debe empezar tan pronto como la Legislatura de Oregón haya terminado un proceso similar de reajuste de las líneas de los distritos legislativos estatales.

A principios de este año, la Junta de Comisionados del Condado le pidió al Centro de Investigación de Población de la Universidad Estatal de Portland (Portland State University) que proporcionara opciones recomendadas para cambiar las líneas fronterizas del distrito del comisionado.

Ahora tendrá la oportunidad de revisar cinco distintas opciones propuestas desarrolladas por el Centro de Investigación de Población de la Universidad Estatal de Portland y proporcionar comentarios sobre cada opción. Si desea obtener más información sobre estas opciones, puede visitar el sitio web del condado: <https://www.co.washington.or.us/BOC/redistribucion.cfm>

El "Plan de Concentración Urbana " (etiquetado como Plan 2b en el mapa anterior) une a los votantes rurales mediante la creación de un distrito (distrito D4) que incluye la mayoría de nuestras comunidades rurales. La parte occidental del condado se convertiría en un gran distrito. Las zonas urbanas en el este conformarían tres distritos que serían principalmente urbanos con pocos votantes rurales.

Por ejemplo, el Distrito 2, que ahora tiene un límite occidental en Hillsboro, se extendería hasta la esquina noroeste del condado. El "Plan de Integridad de la Ciudad y UPAA" (etiquetado como Plan 5 en el mapa anterior) se desarrolló para minimizar el número de divisiones de zonas urbanas, de modo que cada ciudad tenga preferiblemente solo una división en dos distritos de comisionados. También tiene en cuenta los límites del área de planificación en las zonas no incorporadas. Los Acuerdos de Área de Planificación Urbana (UPAA por sus siglas en inglés) son acuerdos entre jurisdicciones locales para identificar el área de planificación del uso de la tierra alrededor de cada ciudad y reconocer las responsabilidades de las actividades integrales de planificación del uso de la tierra.
