PART I: MTW PLAN AND RENT REFORM INFORMATION

a) MTW PLAN

I) VISION FOR PHA'S LOCAL MTW PROGRAM

The three Statutory Objectives of the Moving to Work (MTW) program are to: 1) reduce cost and increase cost-effectiveness, 2) increase self-sufficiency, and 3) increase housing choice. These goals align nicely with the Housing Authority of Washington County's (HAWC's) goals, as stated in its most recent PHA Annual Plan: 1) Increase the availability of decent safe, and affordable housing; 2) improve community quality of life and economic vitality; 3) promote self-sufficiency and asset development of families and individuals; and 4) ensure equal opportunity in housing for all Americans. Regarding the last goal, HAWC has implemented Limited English Proficiency (LEP) and Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) policies and is committed to providing access to affordable housing regardless of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, familial status, or disability.

While HAWC has demonstrated success in reaching its stated goals, the MTW program and the flexibility it offers will enable the agency to implement and test strategies that were not previously available due to funding or regulatory restrictions. HAWC is interested in using MTW flexibility to shift focus from paperwork and verifications to improving household outcomes and HAWC will use its new MTW status to encourage its staff and community partners to think outside the box and find ways to improve and streamline process. In particular, the housing authority is interested in:

- Expanding its Family Self Sufficiency (FSS) program while also looking at making changes to the structure of the program that will provide more locally based and resident driven incentives.

- Moving to a triannual review cycle for senior/disabled populations that are not part of the rent reform thus substantially reducing the administrative burden on the authority.
- Creating local sponsor-based voucher programs (within framework of rent reform) that match vouchers with programs that improve outcomes for students in school (both college and primary) houseless families and working families.
- Expanding housing opportunities by leveraging the project-based voucher program strategic alignment of HUD authorized repositioning programs.
- End the EID (earned income disregard) policy
- PBV partners to hold waitlists
- PBV partners to perform initial inspection self-certification, but all PBV units will be inspected once annually by HAWC HQS Inspector.
- HQS Inspector able to inspect HAWC owned properties to eliminate the need to outsource these inspections.

The MTW program will allow HAWC to employ strategies for cost reduction and effectiveness. For example, the HUD-prescribed tiered rent model will allow HAWC to adapt a triennial reexamination schedule for eligible families (instead of annual) and eliminate deductions. These changes will save significant staff time by reducing the number of reexaminations and verifications that need to be performed, allowing HAWC to redirect its staff and resources into activities that hold a higher value for its participants. These higher value activities could include working with partners to provide career placement and training opportunities, connecting low income people to necessary services, and collaborating with public and private partners on a number of initiatives.

HAWC understands that becoming an MTW agency will have its challenges, but the agency is well-suited to take it on. Here are some specific examples of HAWC staff's proven experience that will help them oversee the implementation and operation of the MTW program:

- Josh Crites is the agency's Assistant Director who currently oversees Public and Affordable Housing and will oversee the implementation of the MTW program. Josh previously worked as the MTW Policy Analyst for the Tacoma Housing Authority and has extensive experience developing and implementing housing programs and MTW plans and reports. He also worked on MTW strategies for the Seattle Housing Authority.
- HAWC has a staff of diverse skills who are excited for the opportunities and challenges that the MTW program has to offer. This includes its Executive Director Komi Kalevor who has over thirty years of real estate development experience and has worked on several complex partnership programs that created thousands of units of affordable housing throughout the Pacific Northwest.
- The Rental Assistance Program Manager, Liz Morris worked for the Seattle Housing Authority for over a decade and brings with her extensive knowledge of the MTW program.
- The Housing Choice Voucher Program Coordinator Emily Nichols worked at an MTW agency, the Oakland Housing Authority. While there she worked in both asset management and the voucher program and has extensive experience in how the flexibilities can be utilized and implemented.
- HAWC's Asset Manager, Will Seals, brings over twenty years of experience, including extensive Public Housing and asset management experience. Will is well-versed in how the MTW program operates and his experience repositioning Public Housing and affordable assets in ways to maximize the benefits to residents is in line with MTW program goals.

- HAWC’s Finance department includes two CPA’s with broad knowledge of HUD funding and a Financial Analyst who previously worked for Home Forward, another MTW agency.
- HAWC will hire a Program Analyst who will work on the MTW program activities full-time.

II) PLAN FOR FUTURE COMMUNITY/RESIDENT ENGAGEMENT

HAWC believes that resident and community engagement is imperative to successful program implementation and is committed to engaging the community, soliciting feedback, and incorporating the views of its residents, applicants, and the community at large throughout its MTW planning and implementation activities. We also understand that specific outreach to our communities of color and tribal communities are important as many of these populations have often been excluded from the housing program decision-making process. Specific outreach efforts include meeting with the agency’s Resident Advisory Board, the Housing Advisory Committee, and the Oregon Law Center. In addition, in compliance with HAWC’s Limited English Proficiency plan, the agency translated its MTW related materials into all requested languages, including Spanish, Arabic, Vietnamese, Japanese, and Somali.

The housing authority also utilizes Washington County’s communication department to broadcast information to the broader community using their various channels.

III) PHA OPERATING AND INVENTORY INFORMATION

HAWC currently has 2,771 Housing Choice Vouchers, 163 of which are project-based, and 244 Public Housing units. The housing authority also operates around 600 units of non-federal bond funded affordable housing units. Forty-eight (48%) percent of HAWC's population is disabled and 23% is elderly. The average household income is $19,000, of which an average of $10,300 is earned income. In addition, 76% of the households served are Extremely Low Income (ELI), 17% are Hispanic, 12% are African American, 19% are single adults with a dependent and 82% are white. HAWC does not anticipate any major shifts in the population it serves due to MTW program changes other than a gradual upward shift in household income and the proportion of income that is earned income for the households participating in the tiered rent program.

In addition to traditional housing authority programs and services, HAWC has participated in a number of innovative partnerships and programs to better serve its participants. A few examples include:

1. The housing authority partnerd with Oregon Housing and Communtiy Development (OHCD: Oregon's Housing Fiannce Commission) by utilizing direct homeless referrals through HUD's Continuum of Care program and receiving $2,000 of Barrier Buster funds from OHCD for every mainstream voucher in Washington County.
2. In 2018, Washington County and the housing authority received $116 million for the development of affordable housing from the Metro Regional Government Agency. Metro provided services to Permanent Supportive Housing residents in exchange for 200 project based vouchers from the housing authority.
3. Metro 300 Program; a partnership between the housing authority and Kaiser Permanente, a large health care plan on the west coast, to house 80 houseless, senior/disabled individuals. Kaiser funded the housing authority with $1.3 million dollars for local funded rent assistance, housing navigation capacity building and the building up of capacity for culturally specific providers to deliver housing navigation services to communities of color.

4. The housing authority partnered with Meyer Memorial Trust on an innovative program to increase capacity of three behavioral health providers to deliver supportive housing services and better leverage the Medicaid system. For this, Meyer Memorial provided the housing authority with $250,000 in grant dollars to fund the partnership.
5. Health Careers NW, a partnership between HAWC, Worksource Portland Metro and Worksystems, inc. providing opportunities for housing participants to access skills, training, and employment programs in the healthcare industry;
6. The housing authority also worked with its Metro regional government to procure and deliver over $80 million dollars in locally funded dollars in 2020 to spur the development of over 700 units of new affordable housing. The housing authority staff drove the entire implementation of this including extensive community outreach and mandating set asides for Women and Minority Owned Businesses in the construction period.

For most households, participating the in tiered rent program will result in a slight increase in rent. HAWC estimates that 763 households will be eligible to participate in the program. Half will be part of the control group and the other half will be part of the treatment group. For those in the treatment group, households will see a rent increase of $11 per month on average. However, the level of impact will depend largely on the size of the household. For example, the average rent difference for households with one (1) household member will see an average rent decrease of $10, while households with six (6) or more household members will see a rent increase of $34 on average. This is largely due to the elimination of the dependent deduction and the allowance for childcare expenses required by the tiered rent program as prescribed.

In addition to the impact on tenant rent, these changes will also impact the agency's HAP expenditures. HAWC anticipates that the tiered rent program will result in a $90,000 decrease in HAP, enabling it to serve additional families.

IV) PLAN FOR LOCAL MTW PROGRAM

HAWC believes that becoming MTW gives the agency the opportunity to fundamentally change its operations. Using MTW flexibility, HAWC will align the needs of the community and residents with the three (3) MTW statutory objectives in ways that help transform operations, encourage self-sufficiency, and better utilize the funding it receives.

Cost Effectiveness: by implementing triennial reviews and eliminating deductions, HAWC will be able to redirect the staff time and resources toward activities that have a higher value for the participant. Additional activities related to cost-effectiveness that HAWC may consider include changing the HQS inspection schedule, adopting a streamlined process for performing rent reasonableness, and eliminating the selection process for project-based vouchers.

Self-Sufficiency: HAWC's FSS program currently leverages a number of partnerships to help participants by making targeted referrals. The MTW program will give HAWC the ability to increase the size of its self sufficiency programs while also making changes that will create more local resident driven incentives. HAWC currently partners with career training partners and would like to expand that opportunity and access under MTW. Any changes in the FSS program would be done so under consultation with HUD and its research partners to ensure the rent reform research project is completed without impact. The housing authority would also look at other opportunities to execute waiver 14, Moving on Policy, and Waiver 17 on local non-traditional programs. We believe there are opportunities to create incentive-based programs while still upholding the integrity of the cohort evaluation.

Housing Choice: there are several MTW waivers related to housing choice that HAWC may consider, including the ability to offer incentives to landlords with units in higher opportunity areas (Waiver 4) and the ability to develop non-Public Housing using MTW funds (Waiver 17). Washington County is receiving around $40 million dollars in local funds a year for the next 40 years to decrease homelessness. This local tax payer funded program will be a tool that the housing authority will look to combine with MTW flexibilities and partnerships to increase the overall number of affordable housing units in our community.

V) PROPOSED USE OF MTW FUNDS

As part of this MTW application package, HAWC formally requests authorization to use Public Housing and Housing Choice Voucher HAP and Admin funds flexibly. HAWC plans to use funds flexibly across the Section 8 and Section 9 programs. This flexibility will help ensure the overall viability of the programs that HAWC manages by providing additional subsidy for historically under-funded programs. While no plans currently exist to do so, HAWC may use its MTW funds to purchase, rehabilitate, or develop affordable housing.

VI) EVIDENCE OF SIGNIFICANT PARTNERSHIPS

HAWC leverages partnerships with others in the community for housing development, client services, and program augmentation. One major partnership listed earlier was Kaiser Permanente who funded the housing authority with $1.3 million dollars to create a local subsidy program for homeless in our community. That catalytic investment formed a new partnership with Bienestar who is now providing culturally specific housing outreach and navigation services as a contractor for the housing authority. The housing authority also partnered with Meyer Memorial Trust and three behavioral health providers to create a new training program on housing navigation services. The program is also bringing the Oregon Health Authority into the partnership to figure out if a Medicaid Waiver could leverage federally backed housing stabilization services for housing authority and Washington County residents.

In the last year, Washington County partnered with Metro which is a government entity for the entire region. The housing authority partnered to procure and distribute over $80 million dollars to develop over 700 new units of affordable housing. This was a groundbreaking program that voters approved in 2018 and has already been implemented. Washington County has also been a partnering agency in the development of over 500 units of affordable housing in the last five years. Other partners include developers in Washington County who receive HOME or CDBG funds through the Office of Community Development and affordable housing bond holders in Washington County. HAWC's website has a list of development partners HERE. This list includes Federal, State and Local government agencies as well as local community partners.

It is the housing authority's goal to use the MTW program to further increase our ability to partner and create leverage points for both services and development. We understand that project-based vouchers are a significant lever in increasing the development of new deeply affordable housing units. We also understand with MTW flexibilities we can think creatively on how to increase the number of units created while also entering into partnerships that will help our residents improve their opportunities in education, increasing their earnings and meeting goals for their families. As outlined, the housing authority worked with large health insurance companies, behavioral health providers, Medicaid systems as well as culturally specific organizations to create innovative and new programs. Receiving the MTW status would further allow the housing authority to increase these types of opportunities.

b) RENT REFORM INFORMATION

1) ALTERNATIVE RENT POLICY SELECTION AND RATIONALE

The Housing Authority of Washington County (HAWC) has selected MTW Test Rent # 1, tiered rents, as its new rent policy. HAWC selected the tiered rent model because the stepped rents (Test Rent # 2 and Test Rent # 3) would each cause participant rent to increase too rapidly and, based on HAWC's rental market, the rent increases may be detrimental to the participants and the community as a whole. HAWC cannot select the last rent model, Test Rent # 4 because it does not have enough vouchers and units to qualify.

The tiered rent model will allow HAWC to significantly reduce its administrative burden without having a major impact on the tenant's rent. This is due to two main factors: 1) instead of conducting a reexamination every year for every family, HAWC will conduct a reexamination every three (3) years; note that there will be a hardship policy in place to deal with losses in income in between reexaminations; and 2) each household will be placed into a tier based on their gross income; gross income is the household's income before applying deductions, such as elderly, disabled, and dependent deductions, and childcare expenses, effectively eliminating the requirement to verify that each household meets the applicable deductions.

HAWC believes that the tiered rent model will benefit both the agency and participants. It will benefit the participants by allowing their income to increase over a three-year period without having any impact on their rent. It will benefit the housing authority by reducing the administrative burden associated with managing the annual review cycle and processing verifications. As HAWC reduces its administrative burden, staff will be able to shift focus from processing paperwork to helping participants find employment and aligning each participant with service partners who can work with them to increase their income and become self-sufficient.

II) DESCRIBE ALTERNATIVE RENT POLICY TO THE PUBLIC

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has invited the Housing Authority of Washington County (HAWC) to apply to become a Moving to Work (MTW) agency. One of the requirements to be an MTW agency is to select and implement a HUD-prescribed rent model for the first six (6) years. The goal of the rent model is to enable households served by HAWC to increase their earned income over time.

HAWC will first determine which families are eligible. In order to be eligible, a family must not be elderly, disabled, on Public Housing flat or ceiling rent, a participant in the Family Self-Sufficiency program, or receiving assistance through a special purpose voucher. HAWC will work closely with HUD and their consultant to define the selection process and randomly assign each families to either the control or treatment group. Households in the control group will not see any changes to how their rent is calculated, while households in the treatment group will have their rent calculated using the new tiered rent model, which is described below.

For those who fall into the treatment group, their rent will be calculated by placing the household into an income tier based on their annual gross income. Gross income is the household's income before dependent deductions. Income tiers increment by $2,500 and the tenant's rent is based on 30% of the mid-range of the tier. For example, if a household earns $4,000 per year gross, they will fall into the $2,500 to $4,999 income tier and their rent will be based on $3,750, which is the mid-range of the tier. Thirty (30) percent of $3,750 is $1,125, which results in $94 per month for rent when divided by 12. The program has a minimum monthly rent of $50, which means that any household earning less than $2,500 per year will have a $50 minimum rent per month. The full tiered rent table can be found at the end of this section of the application.

Note that the term “rent” includes the portion of the unit rent and utilities that the household is responsible for. If the rent is less than the utility allowance, the family will receive a utility allowance reimbursement, just as they would under current program rules.

The primary benefit to households on in the treatment group is that they can earn more income during the three-year period between reexaminations without seeing an increase in their rent. This means that the household earning $4,000 per year and on a $94 rent can begin earning $50,000 (or more) and still continue to pay only $94 in rent.

If the household’s income goes down, they can request a hardship. A household will qualify for a hardship if their income drops their rent into a lower tier, as long as the loss of income was involuntary. When this happens, HAWC will move the household to the lower tier for a minimum of one (1) month and a maximum of twelve (12) months, depending on the family’s circumstances.

HAWC anticipates the new rent model to be in place within the next twelve months, depending on the timing and approval of the MTW Plan and Application Package. Once the rent model is in place, the enrollment period will begin. During the enrollment period, HAWC staff will meet with each household impacted by the program changes, explain how these changes impact their rent, and perform the initial reexamination.

HAWC has performed some preliminary analysis and identified two areas of possible disparate impact due to the tiered rent program:

1. Black / African American families

- 62% of Black/African American families in HAWC’s portfolio would see a rent increase vs. 54% of white families. This is due to the larger average family size of African American households (4.4) than White households (3.4). Note, however, that the average amount of the increase is less significant ($14 vs. $10).

Race	No. of Households	Average Family Size	% w/Increase in Rent	Average Ren Increase
Black / African American	151	4.4	62%	$14
White	583	3.4	54%	$10
Other	29	3.6	55%	$14

2. Large households

- Because the dependent allowance has been eliminated, families with more dependents will see a larger rent increase. In addition, families with dependents and childcare expenses will see the largest rent increases of any family in HAWC’s portfolio.

	Average Rent Difference by Number of Dependents
	0	1	2	3	4	5+	Total
No Childcare Expenses	-$7	$4	$4	-$2	$14	$29	$4
Childcare Expenses	N/A	$104	$209	$151	$127	$273	$161
Total	-$7	$8	$14	$11	$22	$36	$11

If HUD selects HAWC for the MTW Program, HAWC will work closely with HUD to review these and other areas of disparate impact. In order to address these concerns, HAWC and HUD may look at a number of different options, including changes to the treatment group selection process, adjustments to program rules, and modifications to the standard hardship policy

HAWC understands that MTW agencies have a number of additional requirements that need to be met in order to remain in compliance with the program. To support these requirements, HAWC will hire a Program Analyst. The new Program Analyst will be assigned to the MTW program full-time and will be responsible for compiling annual plans and reports, implementing new activities, and analyzing the results of existing activities.

III) INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY PLAN

Becoming an MTW agency and implementing the tiered rent reform will require a number of technology updates. Once approved for the program, HAWC will request authorization to treat any HUD special program vouchers (e.g., VASH, FUP, FIT) as MTW for 50058 submission purposes. These requests will likely need to be made separately to each special program office. Next, HAWC will need to perform a 50058 conversion, converting each household from non-MTW to MTW. This process will require HAWC to submit a code 6 (end of participation) 50058 in the non-MTW PIC module and a code 1 (new admission) 50058 in the MTW PIC module for each household. HAWC will work with its software vendor (Yardi) and IT consultants to perform this conversion.

Concurrently with the conversion to the MTW 50058, HAWC will work with Yardi and its IT consultants to set up the control and treatment programs in Yardi, including the alternate reevaluation schedules, the tiered rent table, and other program-specific parameters. Please note that Yardi has informed the housing authority that the rent reform models needed are already built out in Yardi and available to the housing authority to utilize. Next, the IT team will work with HUD’s designated consultant to randomly assign households to the control and treatment groups.

The housing authority has a strong history of implementing several large scale I.T. systems implementation. Included in that are:

- Implementing Yardi Voyager
- Implementing the more recent Yardi 7s Upgrades in a shorter time period than outlined by Yardi
- Implementing the Yardi mobile inspection and Yardi mobile maintenance modules
- Recently implementing the full suite of Yardi Rent Café portals which allow our residents to process annual reviews and interims online as well as allowing landlords to process all documents electronically.

Re: Housing Authority of Washington County's Moving to Work Application and Occupancy Standard Change

Dear [first name] [last name],

The Housing Authority of Washington County (HAWC) invites you to participate in one of two public meetings being held via Zoom on October 23, 2020 at 3:00 PM PST and October 26, 2020 at 4:00 PM PST. There are two purposes of these meetings: 1) to discuss HAWC's application to become a Moving to Work (MTW) agency and 2) to discuss HAWC's proposal to change its occupancy standards.

Moving to Work (MTW)

There are currently thirty-nine (39) MTW agencies in the country. In 2016, Congress authorized HUD to add another one hundred (100) agencies to the MTW program. This is the MTW Expansion. HUD invited HAWC to apply to Cohort 2 of the MTW Expansion.

The MTW program gives housing authorities flexibility in two main ways. First, it allows housing authorities to use Section 8 (Housing Choice Voucher) and Section 9 (Public Housing) funds from HUD flexibly. Second, it allows housing authorities to modify standard HUD policies, such as the calculation of rent, the operation of the Family-Self-Sufficiency program, and unit inspections. Anytime a housing authority uses its MTW flexibility, the activity must meet or more of the following statutory objectives:

1. Increase affordable housing;
2. Increase opportunities for self-sufficiency;
3. Increase cost-effectiveness.

Occupancy Standards

Occupancy standards determine the voucher size that a family qualifies for on the Housing Choice Voucher program. Currently, HAWC's occupancy standards take into account gender and whether or not adults are in a spousal relationship. Under the proposed change, HAWC's occupancy standards would be two people per bedroom, regardless of gender, relation, or marital status. HAWC believes that this change will save the agency enough money to serve an additional 130 families. Tenants who are negatively impacted by this policy change can choose to either move to a more suitable unit or pay the difference in rent.

The public meetings provide an opportunity to learn about the MTW program and the proposed occupancy standard changes. The goal is to discuss how these changes would impact HAWC and its clients. You may be impacted by the occupancy standard change if you are a voucher client and currently have fewer than two people per bedroom in your unit. In addition, the meetings will allow you to offer input on how HAWC will use its MTW flexibility. Some of the activities required by HUD may impact how your rent is calculated and how you report household changes to HAWC.

Prior to the first meeting, HAWC will publish Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) on its website. The web address is <https://www.co.washington.or.us/Housing/News/mtw.cfm>. The FAQs will answer some general questions about the MTW program and the occupancy standard changes. Staff will address specific questions during the public meetings.

We look forward to meeting with you to discuss these changes! Here is information for the Zoom calls:

IV) NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

From: Komi Kavelor
To: General Public in Washington County, OR
Date: November 30, 2020
RE: Notice of Public Hearing : the Housing Authority of Washington County's application to join the Moving to Work Program

NOTICE

HUD invited the Housing Authority of Washington County (HAWC) to submit an application to participate in the Moving to Work (MTW) demonstration program. The MTW program is a HUD program available to select Public Housing Authorities (PHA's) that allows PHA's to waive many of HUD's housing policies. Using this flexibility, MTW agencies have developed new, innovative programs geared at reducing costs, increasing affordable housing, and promoting self-sufficiency.

If HUD approves its MTW application, HAWC will first implement HUD's required rent reform activity and will then explore additional ways that MTW flexibility can be used to further the agency's goals. More information regarding HAWC's proposed activities will be available on HAWC's website and within the MTW application itself.

The application is due January 8, 2021. During the month of October, HAWC held two (2) resident meetings and drafted its MTW application. Throughout November, HAWC met with other community partners and impacted staff. In December, HAWC will hold a public hearing. All of the various input received will be reviewed and incorporated into the MTW application prior to bringing the application to the HAWC Board of Commissioners for approval on January 5, 2021.

As part of the application process, HAWC will hold a Public Hearing on December 15, 2020 at 6:30 PM PST during the Board of Commissioner's meeting. All public interested in HAWC's application for the MTW application are invited to attend.

V) BOARD PUBLIC HEARING AGENDA ITEM

AGENDA
BOARD OF DIRECTORS
HOUSING AUTHORITY WASHINGTON COUNTY

Agenda Category: Public Hearing – Housing Authority (All CPOs)

Agenda Title: CONDUCT PUBLIC HEARING FOR MOVING TO WORK (MTW) DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM APPLICATION

Presented by: Komi P. Kalevor, Executive Director

SUMMARY:

On May 7, 2019, the Housing Authority Board of Directors (HABOD) authorized the housing authority to submit a letter of interest in applying for the Moving to Work (MTW) program to HUD. HUD reviewed the letters of interest submitted and invited thirty-six (36) eligible housing authorities to apply to the MTW program, including the Housing Authority of Washington County (HAWC).

The MTW application is due to HUD on January 8, 2021 and will be brought before the Board for approval at the January 5, 2021, board meeting. In preparation, HAWC staff held two (2) public meetings with residents, a study session with the Board of Directors, and several meetings with stakeholders. Also, a draft of the MTW Plan and Application Package was uploaded to the housing authority's website on October 29, 2020.

MTW Draft of Part I of the MTW Plan and Application Package is hyperlinked here.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

Community Feedback (Known Support/Opposition): The Housing Authority 1) conducted two public input meetings via Zoom with HCV and Public Housing residents, and 2) met with the resident advisory board (RAB). Questions and answers from the public meetings were recorded, translated into multiple languages, and posted to the housing authority's website at https://www.co.washington.or.us/Housing/News/mtw.cfm.

Legal History/Prior Board Action: The Board heard about MTW at the Nov. 3, 2020 Work session.

Budget Impacts: per statute, becoming an MTW agency does not impact the amount of money HAWC receives from HUD. It does, however, impact how HAWC can spend the money for both the Section 8 (Housing Choice Voucher) and Section 9 (Public Housing) programs.

HOUSING AUTHORITY OF WASHINGTON COUNTY

Agenda Category: Consent – Housing Authority (All CPOs)

Agenda Title: APPROVE RESOLUTION AND ORDER ADOPTING HOUSING AUTHORITY OF WASHINGTON COUNTY'S MOVING TO WORK APPLICATION

Presented by: Komi P. Kalevor, Executive Director

SUMMARY:

On May 14, 2019, HAWC submitted a letter of interest to apply for the Moving to Work (MTW) program. In 2020, HUD invited HAWC to submit a full application. Throughout the last several months of 2020, HAWC completed the application and the public process and is now ready to submit its full application to HUD for approval. If approved, HAWC will need to negotiate and sign an MTW agreement, which will also come before the Board for approval. The agreement will allow HAWC to use its federal funding more flexibly and to engage in activities that were previously not allowed under federal regulations. It will also require HAWC to participate in a six (6)-year rent reform study using a tiered rent program, which was described to the Board in some detail at the November 2020 Board Study Session.

As a reminder, any activity that HAWC participates in must meet one of the three MTW Statutory Objectives:

1. Reduce cost and increase cost effectiveness
2. Increase family self-sufficiency for work able households
3. Increase housing choice

We share the HAWC's belief that affordable housing is the foundation of a healthy, stable life and the platform from which families and communities build success. Affordable housing is a key component to curing poverty and homelessness. A combination of a lack of funding and restrictive regulation are both barriers that public housing authorities (PHA's) face in increasing housing options for low-income families. The MTW program is an alternative that a small number of PHA's have used to encourage self-sufficiency, increase housing choice, and increase program cost-effectiveness. With Congress' decision to expand the MTW demonstration, Washington County is particularly well-suited to be an effective leader in the program.

Community Action's mission is to lead the way to eliminate conditions of poverty and create opportunities for people and communities to thrive. Since its inception in 1965, Community Action has focused on developing core programs that help families meet basic needs and achieve long-term success. Across the array of service programs, we see the impact that access to affordable housing has on the long term success of children and families and we applaud the HAWC's ongoing efforts to address housing needs in our community.

The Housing Authority of Washington County has a long history of forging strong community partnerships, finding innovative ways to solve complex housing issues and respond to crisis, and creating and funding programs that help those in need within our community. The MTW program will help Washington County make its innovative programs more effective by reducing administrative burdens and allowing MTW funds to be used for local, non-traditional purposes.

In this endeavor, the Housing Authority of Washington County has our full support. If you have any questions or need further information, please contact me using the information below.

To Whom It May Concern:

On behalf of BRIDGE Housing, I write this letter to support the Housing Authority of Washington County's application to become a Moving to Work (MTW) agency. We understand that affordable housing is a key component to curing poverty and homelessness and that lack of funding and restrictive regulation are both barriers that public housing authorities (PHA's) face in increasing housing options for low-income families. The MTW program is an alternative that a small number of PHA's have used to encourage self-sufficiency, increase housing choice, and increase program cost-effectiveness. With Congress' decision to expand the MTW demonstration, Washington County is particularly well-suited to be an effective leader in the program.

Having served as the CEO of two MTW agencies in my career (Fairfax County Redevelopment & Housing Authority in Virginia and Vancouver Housing Authority in Washington), I can attest to how beneficial the designation can be for an agency with an entrepreneurial spirit. I appreciate that Washington County has shown its resourcefulness and creativity in development finance and resident services and would have the tools necessary to take innovation to the next level were the County designated a MTW agency.

The MTW program will help Washington County make its innovative programs more effective by reducing administrative burdens and allowing MTW funds to be used for local, non-traditional purposes. In this endeavor, the Housing Authority of Washington County has our full support. If you have any questions or need further information, please contact me using the information in the letterhead below.
